Houston, Texas – Steel and Pipe Supply is upgrading its Storage & Processors brand with a new stretch leveler that will provide better service and improved product quality for current and future customers. The new ½-inch by 96-inch stretch leveler from Delta Steel Technologies will produce a wide range of panel-flat, laser-quality products that include hot rolled, HRPO, and cold rolled steel.

The state-of-the-art high-speed stretch leveler will be capable of producing four million pounds of stretching force and will be equipped with quick exchange gripper bars. This is the second stretch leveler that Delta Steel Technologies has manufactured for Steel and Pipe Supply.

“At Steel and Pipe Supply, we value relationships with our customers and our suppliers. This project is an effort to fortify that commitment to our current customer base and to gain market share with the highest quality product and service,” said John C. Conley, Vice President of Operations at Steel and Pipe Supply. “We have chosen Delta Steel Technologies as our partner in this venture based on our previous experiences and their continued efforts to support our goal to be the most valued steel company with which to do business.”

“We are proud to say that we are the only manufacturer in the world that has built temper mill and stretch leveler cut-to-length lines in their entirety,” said Joseph Savariego, President of Delta

Steel Technologies. "Delta prides itself on high customer satisfaction. This exciting project is an example of how customer satisfaction pays off."

About Steel and Pipe Supply
